

Asian American Studies Certificate Program

at the University of Wisconsin-Madison

The Asian American Studies certificate program provides students with an opportunity to develop a sustained intellectual focus on Asian American racial formation, communities, and culture. Interdisciplinary in nature, the certificate can be obtained by completing 15 credits of coursework in the humanities, social sciences, and education.

The certificate program is open to any undergraduate student regardless of major or college who has an interest in Asian American Studies and is in good academic standing at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Interested students should contact the Asian American Studies Program (303 Ingraham Hall) and meet with the Director to discuss their study plans and understand the administrative process for obtaining the certificate.

To enroll in the program, students must complete this form and return it to the Program office. Certificates will be awarded in the semester of graduation. To ensure that completion of certificate requirements are officially recognized by the university, students are encouraged to notify the program early in the semester they plan to graduate.

For further information, please contact the Asian American Studies office.
