

Asian American Studies

Asian American Studies

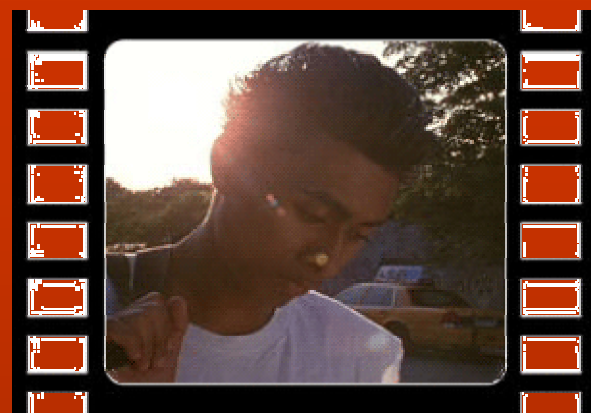

Americanese
(drama)

Racial politics both in and out of the bedroom

Finishing the Game
(drama)

A comedy spoof about Hollywood's exploitative search for a Bruce Lee's stand-in

Punching At The Sun
(drama)

A coming-of-age story about racism and identity, rage and redemption

Ticket & Info

www.wiFilmFest.org

The Slanted Screen
(documentary)

Why are there so few images of Asian American men in the media?

Diaspora Melancholy

Asian American Film Series 2007

April 12 – 15 in Madison

The Asian American Film Series is funded in part by the Anonymous Fund and the Asian American Studies Program at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. For more information about Asian American Studies at UW, a listing of film holdings on Asian Americans, and a downloadable list of film showing dates and times, go to <http://polyglot.lss.wisc.edu/aasp/>.

Man Push Cart
(drama)

Life of a former Pakistani rock star who now sells coffee from his push cart on the streets of Manhattan

Air Guitar Nation
(documentary)

A Korean American represents his country in the Air Guitar World Championship.

The Cats of Mirikitani
(documentary)

What do a quizzical housecat and a homeless "grand master artist" have in common?

Sentenced Home
(documentary)

Three Cambodian refugees deported to a "home" they can no longer recall